

INTEGRATED MANAGEMENT SYSTEM POLICY

A.A.G. STUCCHI provides the resources necessary to develop, maintain and improve an Integrated Management System compliant with the latest revision of UNI EN ISO 9001, UNI EN ISO 14001 and UNI EN ISO 45001 standards, as a fundamental tool for controlling and improving company processes. In particular, it undertakes to disseminate and ensure the following objectives, documented in the annual Management Review, which also constitute compliance obligations for the organization:

- Ensure maximum customer satisfaction through continuous improvement of product and service quality.
- Continuously provide innovative, safe and reliable products, ensuring timely and effective technical support.
- Comply with applicable legislation and other requirements relating to quality, environment, occupational health and safety, product safety and sustainability.
- Continuously improve company processes, the effectiveness of the Integrated Management System and performance in the areas of quality, environment, health and safety. All company processes must be aligned with this policy.
- Protect the environment by preventing pollution, reducing environmental impacts, optimizing the use of natural and energy resources, and promoting the reuse, recycling and recovery of waste.
- Ensure safe and healthy workplaces, preventing accidents and occupational diseases and promoting worker consultation and participation.
- Ensure product safety throughout the entire life cycle through effective risk management and compliance with applicable requirements.
- Promote a culture of quality, environmental protection, and health and safety through employee involvement, training and continuous skills development.
- Strengthen collaboration with all stakeholders, both internal and external, encouraging transparent communication and the dissemination of sustainable practices throughout the value chain.
- Promote initiatives in the social, organizational well-being and corporate welfare fields, with due attention to the Company's social responsibility, for the benefit of employees and the community.

Chief Executive Officer

